Longtail Studios

“Longtail has really grown,” says Morgan. “Last year 10 people worked here, and now we have closer to 25. I love working for this company because we do something different - our video games are all about character and story, not just action. We have a larger ratio of writers on staff than other video game companies.”

Morgan is from Calgary. He has a degree in Fine Arts from the University of Calgary and studied 3D animation at the Vancouver Film School. He specializes in 3D modeling and texturing, which are techniques that bring a character to life.

Longtail is looking to hire a Lead Programmer and two Graphics Programmers.
